

BABY TOPPLES INTO A TUB OF BOILING WATER

Little Daughter of Henry Lange Rescued By Mother But May Die

FALLS INTO VAT AS PARENT GOES IN HOUSE

Believed Infant Tried to Follow Mother When Tragedy Occurred

The two-year-old baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lange, near Snider's Mill, toppled backward into a tub of boiling water Monday afternoon, and was badly scalded that but little hope is entertained for her recovery.

The accident occurred at about two o'clock in the afternoon while the mother was washing clothes in the rear of the house.

A tub of hot water had been set aside for some special purpose and Mrs. Lange, while busily engaged at her work, forgot for a moment that the tot was near, and went into an adjoining room to procure some clothing.

She had scarcely gotten away when she heard the agonizing scream of her little daughter. Hurriedly returning to the scene, she saw the child struggling in the seething mass of boiling suds.

Taking the little sufferer in her arms, she called one of the older children from the yard and sent her hurriedly for the father, who was working in a field some distance away.

Neighbors were also called in and the injured child was given every attention possible while they waited the coming of the physician, Dr. Ramsey of Tilsit, who was communicated with by telephone.

Her suffering was intense and it was feared that she would not survive until the arrival of the doctor.

Realizing the urgency of the call, he traveled the three miles quickly. He resorted to emergency treatment to save the baby's life.

The child received frightful burns, almost the entire body being affected, and the physician expresses but little hope for her recovery.

It is believed the baby attempted to follow her mother into the house, and in its hurry fell into the tub. There was a slight hill near the tub and had the baby been standing on this knoll when she tumbled, she would have dropped into the water.

Another theory is that the child, out of curiosity, attempted to look into the tub, was burned, and in its struggle to get out of the way fell into the boiling water.

CAPAHAS BREAK HOODOO.

Trim New Madrid Before Big Crowd of Fans.

The Capahas broke their losing streak yesterday afternoon when they defeated the visiting New Madrid team in a hard fought game by a score of 7 to 4, at the fair grounds park in this city.

In spite of the threatening weather and the fact that the visitors outplayed the local team in their first game, Sunday, winning by a score of 4 to 3, there was a good attendance of enthusiastic fans.

ITALY TO BE AT FAIR.

Rome, Sept. 4.—The government has decided to continue the construction of the Italian pavilion at San Francisco, to be used at the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, with the object of participating, if possible, regardless of the European war.

The decision was reached on the suggestion of Ernesto Nathan, former Mayor of Rome, who visited the United States in May and June of this year in the interests of Italian representation at San Francisco.

Tokio, Sept. 4.—Announcement is made by Haruki Yamawaki, the Japanese commissioner to the Panama-Pacific exposition, that Japan is proceeding with its preparations for participation in the exhibit. The exhibit will be of increased excellence, because Europe cannot participate.

NEGRO CALLED A MURDERER IS CAPTURED HERE

Patrolman Hutson and Beeve Arrest Black Five Minutes After Being Notified.

SWEETHEART QUARREL CAUSES HIS CAPTURE

Lusky Maiden, After Romantic Fuss, Tells Police Swain Is Slayer.

Elder Evans, alias Alfred Butler, a negro, who is charged with having committed a murder in Evansville, Ind., was arrested by officers Jeff Hutson and Ed Beeve at about 12:30 o'clock this morning.

The arrest was made five minutes after officer Hutson had been advised that the fugitive was wanted.

Evans is charged with having murdered a man by the name of Wash Pimm, in Evansville, on August 4, 1913, at a negro celebration.

He has been living in this city for several months and has been employed as a laborer at various places in the town.

His apprehension was the result of a quarrel with his sweetheart, Georgie Evans, who is said to have accompanied the prisoner to the Cape.

In a spirit of revenge after their misunderstanding, the woman sought officer Hutson and advised him of the charges that stand against her discarded lover, whom she stated could be found at 318 South Fountain street.

Mr. Hutson immediately sought the assistance of Officer Beeve who was still walking his beat in the downtown district. Dr. B. W. Willis who was preparing to take a spin on his motorcycle, hurried downtown and brought the officer back with him on his machine.

The officers then repaired to the address given them, where they surprised and captured their man without resistance.

While the prisoner did not confess his guilt, he was sullen and refused to talk.

Officer Hutson communicated by telephone with the Chief of Police at Evansville, and was informed that such a murderer was wanted and that from the description given, he had no doubt but that the right man was being held. Mr. Hutson was instructed to hold the prisoner until the arrival of an officer to take him back to the scene of the alleged crime.

NAPPING COW HERDER SPENDS DAY ON HILL

Just at sunrise yesterday morning Rube Beers, foreman for E. Alf. Miles, the stockman, mounted his trusty broncho and galloped out the Bloomfield road for Benton Hill where he had been instructed by his employer to await the arrival of a large herd of cattle that were being trailed into the Cape.

Time grew heavy on his hands, and it is believed that he wandered into the heavy timber surrounding the promontory on which he was standing watch, and while listening to the twittering of the birds, or perhaps asleep, the lowing herd was driven past and brought on into the Cape.

When Mr. Miles was advised that his cattle had been delivered he looked for Mr. Beers, who had been instructed to place the stock in corrals in the west edge of town. Not being able to see him, he inquired of the men who had made the delivery, and was informed by them that they had seen nothing of the delinquent foreman.

Later information developed the fact that Beers had returned to his assigned station on top of Benton Hill, and at noon was sitting by the roadside with his chine between his hands patiently awaiting the approach of the collected bovines.

At four o'clock in the afternoon another report was received stating that he had shifted his position slightly, but was still waiting.

At dusk he had failed to return, and Mr. Miles stated that nothing but hunger could drive him from his post, and that he expected him back in time for breakfast this morning.

PALMER HEADS D. A. R.

Detroit, Sept. 4.—David J. Palmer of Des Moines, Ia., this afternoon was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic to succeed Washington Gardner of Albion, Mich. The election followed a day of balloting.

The vote was 702 for Palmer and 80 for Orlando H. Somers of Indiana. Washington, D. C., was selected to entertain the 1915 Grand Army encampment.

TWO GIRLS ARE THROWN OUT OF RIGIN RUNAWAY

Opal Taylor and Vina Hurst Hurlled From Buggy On Heads As It Hits Tree.

AUTO SCARED HORSES IN OUTSKIRTS OF CAPE

Steed Spills Two Drivers and Wrecks the Buggy In A Fence.

Misses Opal Taylor and Vina Hurst, two young ladies whose homes are in South Cape, while driving through Smelterville yesterday morning were thrown from the buggy and seriously injured.

They are both regarded skillful drivers and expert in the handling of horses, but when the animal they were driving became frightened at a passing automobile, they were unable to control the terrified beast and were carried at a reckless speed along the rocky roadway.

Pedestrians, teamsters and chauffeurs were alike unheeded by the frenzied steed, and were compelled to seek safety by hurriedly withdrawing to the roadside to give open passage to the wild stampede which threatened disaster to the passengers.

The lines were jerked from the hands of the fair driver and were flying wildly while the unguided horse plunged madly on.

Spectators vainly attempted to check the mad race by waving coats and blankets in front of the approaching animal, but their actions were unheeded and their would be rescuers were compelled to give way in order to prevent being run over.

Just as they were passing the store of L. A. Kirby, the buggy swerved to the side of the road, the hub striking a small tree.

The sudden impact caused the shafts to snap, and the horse freed from his burden, plunged on with increased speed. The young ladies were hurled from the buggy, head foremost over the dash board into the road.

Friends gathered quickly and the victims of the accident were carried into the store where they were cared for, pending the arrival of medical assistance.

The horse became entangled in a wire fence a short distance from where the buggy was wrecked, and was captured and restored to its owner who had appeared on the scene.

The young ladies were taken to their homes, and while they received painful bruises and some deep cuts about the face and head, they were not dangerously hurt.

COWAN PURCHASES PRINCESS THEATRE

Severs Connections With Park Show to Buy Main Street Play House

Robert Cowan, who has been prominently connected with the picture show business in this city for several years, has purchased the Princess theater from J. H. Strain, and in the future he will have the management and control of that popular place of entertainment.

The deal was consummated late yesterday afternoon, and this morning Mr. Cowan boarded the train for St. Louis where he has gone to secure bookings for some new picture features.

Mr. Cowan sold his stock in the Park theater yesterday afternoon and will devote his entire time to maintaining the high standard to which the Princess has already been brought while under the management of Mr. Strain.

Mr. Strain probably will return to his old home in Indiana.

Mr. Cowan last night said: "I have severed my connections with the Park theater and sold my stock in that concern. I shall devote all of my time to the Princess. I am going to St. Louis to arrange for some popular films."

HORSE INJURES GOVERNOR.

Boston, Sept. 8.—Gov. Walsh was thrown from a horse today at the Park Riding School and suffered a fracture of his right arm near the elbow. The governor was about to start a practice ride in preparation for parades to be held in Baltimore in connection with the Star-Spangled Banner celebration.

LABOR DAY FETE THROWS CHAFFEE

Little City Makes Record For Entertaining—Special Train Carries Crowd

The labor day celebration at Chaffee Monday was a big success and is acknowledged to be one of the greatest events of its kind ever recorded in the history of that thriving little city.

Much time, labor and expense was devoted in preparation for the entertainment of the immense crowds that flocked in on special trains from all sections of the state.

Business houses were closed in celebration of the event, and all the merchants joined their families in swelling the great throngs who put in the day visiting the places of amusement and entertainment.

A mammoth street fair added to the attractiveness of the scene, and games and contests of every conceivable sort were indulged in much to the delight of the participants as well as the on-lookers.

Ten different labor lodges were represented in the celebration and each tried to outdo the other in making the affair a complete success.

A special train carrying several hundred visitors from the Cape pulled out of the depot at 8:30 yesterday morning, and returned at about 11 o'clock last night.

The following is a list of the attractions making up the day's program:

Parade started at 10 a. m. Address of welcome by J. H. Hale. Labor Day speech by G. R. Daugherty.

Selections by Military Band. Dinner at 12 o'clock, noon. Band concert at 1 p. m. Addresses by all ministers.

Ladies' nail driving contest—five 8d nails—prizes—dress pattern, given by J. C. Burner. Wheelbarrow race, four entries, 50 yard dash, return blindfolded—two fat men and two lean men. Prize—box cigars, by J. H. McCallick.

Baseball, 2:30 p. m. Chaffee vs. Carutherville. Nickle scramble for boys under 14. Prize 20 nickels given by Chaffee Trust company.

50-yard dash and return for boys under 14 years. Prize—White Leghorn rooster, given by T. C. Davis. Climbing greasy pole. Prize, 1 ham, given by Leo Halter, butcher.

Roping and Rough Riding, 1 hour's duration immediately following the ball game. Prize—$20. Charles Mantel and P. C. Bartlett.

Ladies and children have exclusive use of grand stand during this contest. Greasy pig race for boys under 14 years. Prize—60-pound pig, given by John Heeb.

Young Brothers' shows, including merry-go-round, minstrel show, etc.; continuous performance.

FOOD INDICTMENTS FOUND.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Thirty-two indictments were returned here today by a Federal grand jury after an investigation to determine whether food prices had been artificially increased here on pretext of having been caused by the European war.

Bench warrants were issued for all the indicted men, who are local commission merchants or produce dealers and bail was arranged for their appearance in court. No nationally known concerns were indicted.

The indictment charges that they have been fixing prices every day on food stuffs by "ballots" or "suggestions" or verbal agreements and that the fixed prices have been circulated by printed circulars. The indictments are under the Sherman law and conviction carries a fine of $5000 or one year's imprisonment or both.

BRITAIN'S DEAD IS 10,399.

London, Sept. 4.—British losses to date, according to official figures of the war press bureau, are placed at 10,399. The latest additional losses announced today were:

Eighteen officers and 62 other rank killed.

Seventy-eight officers and 312 other rank wounded.

Eighty-six officers and 4672 other rank missing.

Previous lists published showed the following losses:

Eighty officers and 127 other rank killed.

Seventy-eight officers and 629 other rank wounded.

Ninety-five officers and 4183 other rank missing.

It is pointed out today that many of the missing have been returned to their base as unfit and that therefore the list of losses later may be found too high.

MO. MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED

Springfield Man Indicted as Graft Promoter.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 4.—Col. R. P. Dickerson, millionaire ranchman and sportsman, was indicted today by the grand jury, on a charge of perjury. The indictment follows a similar action against Chief of Police T. C. Hunter, on 10 counts alleging he accepted bribes from disorderly house keepers for which he gave them protection.

Col. Dickerson appeared twice before the inquisitors. It is charged he was go-between between Chief Hunter and James Keenhold, proprietor of a hotel, also indicted as keeper of a disorderly house. Keenhold is alleged to have paid Chief Hunter $25 weekly.

CONTRAST BETWEEN THE TWO PONTIFFS

When Asked for Photograph, the New Pope Said: "I'm too Ugly to Have One Taken."

Rome, Sept. 7.—A patrician has succeeded a plebeian on the throne of the Fisherman. A son of Marchese (Marquise) whose brothers are an admiral and a captain in the Italian navy follows as pontiff of three hundred million Catholics the son of a village postman whose devout sisters are the humblest of peasants.

"Will my frail shoulders be able to bear this burden?" cried Giacomo Cardinal della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, when his election as Vicar of Jesus Christ on earth was announced. His hearers knew he referred to the Armageddon, for he realized full well he had been chosen to meet one of the greatest crises in the world's history.

And so is elevated to the highest spiritual seat a man almost unknown outside of Italy, one whose sixty years make him a young man in the Papacy. The whole world, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, is curious over the personality of this figure whom the astute members of the Sacred college hope will lead mankind back to the walks of peace. There is found nothing in the comparison of the persons of Pius X and Benedict XV which would suggest the higher birth of the latter. In the new pope one sees a man 5 feet 11 inches high and well built. He is a trifle bent, as if from study, and wears heavy spectacles. He is not a handsome man. Asked for his portrait recently by a friend, he replied:

"I am too ugly to have my photograph taken," and added that he had not a single one in his possession. Only after much coaxing was he induced to sit. There was undoubtedly much modesty in this, but Benedict XV, if not "ugly" is not a handsome Pontiff.

Yet, everyone who talks with him is delighted. He is extremely earnest. He is quick to grasp and quick to reply. His bearing in conversation is impeccable. While always courteous, he is guarded in his statements.

He is remarkable for his ability to keep his temper. Never does his voice rise, although he can command the greatest force in his sentences. He is the finished diplomatist.

What birth and training have to do in the producing of this manner of man is seen by a review of Benedict's life. He is the son of Marchese della Chiesa (pronounced Keeaza) and was born in Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, November 21, 1854. Christopher Columbus was also a native of Pegli.

He received his education at the Capronian college, and later attended the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics, which formerly was reserved exclusively for persons of noble birth. He was ordained a priest in 1878.

Then came training under three of the greatest modern church statesmen—Pope Leo XIII, Cardinal Rampolla and Cardinal Merry Del Val. In 1883 he accompanied Mgr. Rampolla (later Cardinal) to Spain, where the latter was Nuncio. This was under Pope Leo. In 1887 he returned to Rome, where Rampolla had become a cardinal, and entered the Secretariat of State as one of the Minutanti or minor officials.

In 1901 he was appointed substitute of the Secretariat and Secretary of the Cypher. Here he was in a position to study the diplomacy of the vatican intimately. In the same year he was appointed Consul of the Holy office.

His promotion was rapid on December 16, 1907, Pope Pius X appointed him Archbishop of the important Sea of Bologna. Here his administration was most diligent. He attracted popular attention once by an indignant attack on the tango, which he forbade his people to dance. His work was characterized by great prudence and diplomacy.

Not for a century has a cardinal of such short standing been made Pope. He assumed the Red Hat May 25, last.

Less than four months later he became, (to give him his full title):

"His Holiness the Pope, Bishop of Rome and Vicar of Jesus Christ; successor of St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles; Supreme Pontiff of the Universal church, Patriarch of the West, Primate of Italy, Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Roman Province, Sovereign of the Temporal Dominions of the Holy Roman Catholic Church."

Many see the finger of Cardinal Merry Del Val, to whom the new pope was so long assistant, in the election. It is the consensus of opinion here that the vatican is more apt to return to the policy of Leo XIII than to continue the method of Pius X. Others predict what they term a "happy medium between diplomacy as a motto and piety as a motto."

If fate deals as kindly as usual with Benedict XV he will occupy the throne for many years. He will be sixty years old on November 21 of this year. Pius X was sixty-eight years at his election and his pontificate lasted eleven years. Leo XIII was the same age and he reigned twenty-five years. Gregory XIV, who preceded Pius IX, was sixty-five years of age when elected and he reigned sixteen years. The youngest man to be chosen pontiff in the last three-quarters of a century was Pius IX. He was fifty-four and his pontificate covered thirty-two years.

It is believed the Pope's age had much to do with his election. It was deemed wise to have a pontiff not weighed down with years or infirmity.

Pope Benedict XV is the 160th occupant of the chair of St. Peter. Of fifty-seven popes since 1378 all save four have been Italians.

It is curious that the present pope selected after much balloting is elevated in much the same compromise manner as Pope Benedict XIV, whose name the present pope assumes. The former was Archbishop of Bologna, too.

The conclave of 1740 was unable to agree on a successor to Clement XII for many months. The votes of the cardinals were divided almost evenly between France and Spain. Each of the two Catholic powers tried to elect a pope favorable to themselves, so that the divided conclave promised to be protracted indefinitely. It was brought to a sudden and most unexpected end by the following remarkable speech of Cardinal Lambertini, Archbishop of Bologna, known as a wit:

"Gentlemen, this must stop. The people of my archbishopric need me and the people of your archbishoprics need you."

"If you want a saint, there is Cardinal Ostini; if you want a statesman, there is Cardinal Aldobrandini. If you want an all-around good fellow, here am I."

At the very next ballot he was elected pope almost unanimously, and proved one of the greatest men who ever sat in the chair of St. Peter.

The new Pope is said to be opposed to "modernism" in religion. When he was appointed Archbishop of Bologna it was said that he was put there to combat certain new ideas which were being promulgated by the National Democratic League, with headquarters in Bologna.

Some Important Dates in the Life of Pope Benedict XV.

Born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Italy, November 21, 1854.

Ordained to the priesthood in Homeland in 1878.

Became secretary to Mgr. Rampolla, afterward Cardinal Rampolla, when that prelate was Papal Nuncio to Madrid, Spain, in 1883.

Returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla, and entered the Secretariat of State, one of the "minutanti," in 1887.

Appointed substitute of the Secretariat and Secretary of the Cypher in 1901, under Cardinal Merry Del Val.

Appointed Archbishop of Bologna, December 16, 1907, by Pope Pius X, and on December 25, 1907, consecrated in the Sistine Chapel by the Pontiff.

Created a Cardinal by Pope Pius X. at last consistory of Pontiff's life, May 25, 1914.

Elected Pope of the Roman Catholic church, September 3, 1914.

Took name of Pope Benedict XV, and began his first pontifical visit September 3, 1914.

Adam Heiserer, a prominent farmer of Dutchtown was in the city yesterday with a big load of farm produce.
